THE MERRY MARRIAGE BELLS

RANG A HAPPY MARITAL PEALING LAST WEEK.

For a Number of Brides and Grooms of Our Own County and Others Well Known Here.

CHAMBERLIN-SPESER—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Speser on Hanover street was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 5, at two o'clock, when their daughter, Esther Miller Speser, was united in marriage to the Rev. Edwin Allan Chamberlain of Buckhorn.

The bride's song, "Oh, Promise Me," was sung by Miss Alda Ocker, and was followed by the Mendelssohn wedding march, played by Mark K. Eckert. The bride was given away by her father, and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. T. Bowersox, of Roseville, a college friend of the groom, assisted by the Rev. Joseph B. Baker, the bride's pastor. The bridesmaid was Miss Bertha M. Savage of Altoona, a cousin of the bride, and the groom was attended by the Rev. O. E. Sunday, of Esby.

The bride was gowned in white messaline, with a bridal veil caught with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Her going away gown was of blue serge, with hat of the same color. The maid of honor wore white lace over pink and carried pink asters. The decorations were green and white, the house being beautiful with palms, ferns and potted plants.

Immediately after the ceremony, a luncheon was served. Rev. and Mrs. Chamberlain were expected to leave town on the four o'clock train, but eluded the guests and went by automobile to Hanover, accompanied by Miss Helen Chamberlin, and Miss Savage, who showered the couple with rose petals, when they boarded the car for their honeymoon trip, which will be spent at Eaglesmere and the surrounding country.

A unique feature in connection with the wedding, was the singing of the "Bridal Chorus" from "The Rose Maiden," outside the bride's door at half past six in the morning of the wedding day, by Miss Helen Chamberlin, and Miss Anna Holtebaugh.

Out of town guests were Mrs. E. A. Chamberlin and daughter, Miss Helen, of Lima, Ohio; Miss Eva Rupert, of Bloomsburg; Mrs. Sarah Steek, of Hughesville; Mrs. C. B. Owen and daughter, Kathryn; Mrs. Katherine Peiffer and Miss E. Feldman, of Chambersburg; Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Savage, and Miss Bertha Savage, of Altoona; Rev. and Mrs. O. E. Sunday and son, Harold, of Esby and Miss Naomi Winger, of Harrisburg.

BOWMAN-SPANGLER—Beneath a floral arch on the lawn, the marriage of Miss Wilda Mertie Spangler and John Bowman, Jr., both of Penbrook, took place at 4 o'clock last Wednesday afternoon at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. The bride was given away by her father J. C. Spangler. The bridal party crossed the lawn to the arch during the playing of the wedding march by Miss Blanche Seabold, of Harrisburg, and at the beginning of the ceremony the hymn "O Perfect Love," was sung by Mrs. O. E. Good. A reception followed, during which a large number of guests offered their good wishes to the bridal pair.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with an overskirt of marquisette and carried bride roses, and the bridesmaids wore green marquisette over green satin. The matron of honor was gowned in yellow marquisette over yellow satin. The color schemes of green and gold was carried out in the decorations of goldenrod and fern.

PROFESSOR R. S. KIRBY

New Professor of Engineering at Gettysburg College.

The home paper of Prof. Kirby in noticing his removal from Port Chester, N. Y. to Gettysburg says:

"A son of Port Chester, Richard Shelton Kirby, has just been chosen professor of the newly established and endowed Burton F. Brough Professorship of Civil Engineering at Pennsylvania College, commonly called Gettysburg College, Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, upon the duties of which he will enter Sept. 13th. This appointment is regarded as one of the special honors of the year in college circles, as it will fall to Professor Kirby to found the Engineering Department of this widely known and celebrated seat of learning."

Professor Kirby was born in the village of Port Chester, September 16, 1874, the eldest son of J. Andrew Kirby and May Shelton Kirby (nee Shelton), the ancestors of whom were of wholesome and successful Scotch and English stock prominent in the affairs of this State and section. He graduated from Union Free School, now the Port Chester High School, in 1891. The next two years he applied himself diligently to surveying and at the same time prepared for entrance at Yale. In 1893 he became a student in the Sheffield Scientific School, graduating with honors in 1896 in the engineering course. The following year was devoted to graduate study, and in 1898 he received the degree of Civil Engineer. In the Fall of that year he was married to Jessie Russell Ferris, of Sound Beach and Baltimore. Later he entered the office of his father, J. Andrew Kirby, also an eminent surveyor and esteemed citizen, and soon thereafter the firm of J. A. Kirby & Son was formed. From 1898 to 1901 he was actively engaged with the varied interests of this reliable firm, although from 1898 to the present time Professor Kirby has been actively connected with the faculty of the Sheffield Scientific School, in the Civil Engineering department. At about this period he was chosen unanimously by a bi-partisan board to become the first City Engineer of his home town. Since 1910 Professor Kirby has been giving lectures before the Senior Class at Yale in civil engineering.

The college to which Professor Kirby has now been called has as its President Dr. William Anthony Granville, formerly of the mathematical department of Yale University. The college was founded about 1865 by the Lutherans, and has between 350 and 400 students. The buildings are up-to-date, and stand ensconced amid historical surroundings. The traditions associated with this seat of learning are of the best. Mr. Guy Revere Thomas, of the Port Chester High School faculty, is an alumnus of the college to which Professor Kirby has been called.

The many friends of Professor Kirby throughout this section of Westchester County, and particularly Port Chester, regret to have him go away, for he has always been active in church, civil and social work, responsibilities going to him, for he could assume them, rendering services of the highest type to our citizens whenever occasion demanded. That continued honors will come to him is the earnest wish of all who know him and hold him in high esteem. Mrs. Kirby, his wife, is very popular, and will be found, no doubt, an active figure in the life of the college with which Professor Kirby is now officially identified.

Reception to New Pastor

Rev. and Mrs. Taylor received with the elders and their wives and guests were introduced by Rev. and Mrs. D. W. Woods. All the ministers of town attended and over three hundred guests were present.

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING

BIDS FOR CONCRETE PAVEMENT FOR DIAMOND TO BE ASKED FOR

A Large Number of Citizens Ordered to be Sent Notices to Make Pavements.

Town Council met in regular monthly session last week, those present being Councilmen Butt, Armor and Codori of 1st ward, Kitzmiller and Stock of 2nd ward, and Tawney and Trostle of 3rd ward. After reading of minutes the following business was transacted:

John Shellaman and Danner Buehler, the latter by his counsel George J. Benner, Esq., appeared and made complaint of the water overflowing their lots on East Middle St. by reason of improper grades and also asked as to making of pavements. A motion for a committee of three to confer with borough engineer for purpose of alleviating the trouble at the Buehler and Shellaman properties carried and Councilmen Butt, Tawney and Armor were named as the committee.

M. C. Bupp, G. W. Stallsmith, Abe Stahl and Joseph Galbraith also complained of trouble caused by overflowing waters, the former two near where the Tiber crosses Stratton street and latter two where same stream crosses West Middle street. A motion prevailed that the police be instructed to make an immediate house to house canvass to ascertain the number of rain spouts entering sanitary sewer so that steps might be taken to relieve the inflow of rain water.

Report was made that Miss Laura Spangler, J. A. Ring and G. W. Weaver & Son were ready to have the borough go ahead and make concrete pavements throughout the northwest and northeast corners of the Diamond. Mr. Ring wanted pavement by Sept. 15. A motion carried that the engineer be instructed to prepare specifications for construction of pavement to have a steel curb and that as soon as specifications are ready the Highway Committee advertise for bids. It was proposed that old brick be used to curb street 6 to 8 feet.

The committee on alley crossing East Confederate avenue and committee on release of damages on West Middle street reported progress and committees were continued.

A letter was read from Col. E. B. Cope, engineer of the Battlefield Park Commissioners, saying: "Over a month ago I wrote you as directed by the Commission in regard to making a pavement along Chambersburg pike, along U. S. land at the 26th Emergency Regiment monument. By direction of the Commission I now renew the request for permission to make this pavement and to have a grade given by the borough engineer." The borough engineer was directed to furnish the U. S. Commission with the grade at the point indicated so that Commission may put down a concrete pavement as proposed.

A motion passed directing the Ordinance Committee to present an ordinance ordaining Buford street to width of 50 feet. This width would not involve the heavy damages resulting if opened to a wider extent as proposed at different times.

Bills of $10 each for the recent viewers, E. P. Wisotzky, Chas. Williams and Daniel A. Skelly, when borough discovered that it would cost $1600 to open Buford avenue to the width of 56 feet were ordered to be paid.

Councilman Butt, chairman of the committee to take up with Calvin Gilbert, extension of Howard street and bridge over Tiber on south side of Springs avenue, reported that Mr. Gilbert agreed to donate to the borough land necessary for the opening of Howard street to High street extended and a 12 foot alley on south side in rear of West Middle street to lane, also the land necessary to lay out High St. to Jay St., or as far as his land extends. To grade and put down under supervision of the Highway Committee cement crossing of regular width not less than 4 ft. over Howard St. on south side of West Middle St., and release for all damages along both sides of West Middle street for $200 to be paid when work is done and approved by Highway Committee and releases executed for damages and that erection of bridge over the Tiber on Springs avenue be postponed. The report by motion was accepted and adopted.

The market was ordered Saturday, Sept. 9, to be opened at 6 a. m. instead of 5:30 a. m.

The Highway Committee was authorized to purchase 250 perches of crushed stone if necessary.

Treasurer P. R. Bickle reported in the general fund $4605.92 and loans in First National Bank with discount of $3749.54 were ordered to be paid. A floating debt of $3126 yet remains. The special fund to meet bonds and interest was reported to be $2713.36, with outstanding note of $1800.

A motion carried for a committee of three to be appointed with authority to secure an expert to examine the lighting system of the borough as to its safety and Councilmen Butt, Kitzmiller and Armor were named as a committee. This action grew out of recent trouble at the two telegraph offices.

A motion carried that a committee of three be appointed to look up and report a safe place to keep the records and papers of borough and Councilmen Codori, Armor and Tawney were named as committee.

Burgess Holtzworth reported back licenses of $296 paid.

Market Master Miller reported

market licenses of $51 paid during August.

Notices were ordered to be sent to property owners to put down new pavements. A few were marked for repair but following were asked for entire new pavements: Mrs. S. B. Gleason, Centre Square and Baltimore street, and on latter street Dr. H. L. Diehl, Dr. H. M. Hartman and C. S. Duncan, Walter's Theatre, Jacob Slonaker and James Weigandt on York street, Dr. Breidenbaugh, Mrs. G. H. Buehler, H. C. Hartley, on Carlisle street, Penna. College on N. Colored Excursionist Killed.

The big colored excursion from Baltimore on Monday was marked by two fearful accidents. The excursion trains began to arrive about noon and kept coming until 4:00 excursionists had been unloaded and the hauling capacity of the place was overtaxed to get them out of town and to Round Top. It has been marvelous that these crowds have been coming to Gettysburg and get away safely without accident, but yesterday proved the exception to the rule.

Late in the afternoon a colored man was carrying a small boy and was trying to board train. The way was blocked by a woman. He caught the rail to get on and was swung around and fell with child. The man sprang up. The child, Andrew Bivans, five years old, fell across track and would have been killed had not Pius J. Kraut, an employee of the W. M. R. R., seen the occurrence and grabbed the child, pulling it away, but not quite quick enough, the toes on one foot being caught and mashed. The foot was dressed by Dr. A. M. Hartman and child was taken to Baltimore by his mother.

After all the regular excursion trains had departed, a number of colored people remained who had missed their train and the W. M. R. R. proceeded to make up a special train. One James Robinson of 249 Forest street, Baltimore, somewhat the worse for drink, was seen about this time to go westward along the W. M. R. R. tracks. He reached a point opposite the Gettysburg Ice and Storage Co. Here he went to sleep with his body on the path between the tracks and both legs across track. A freight train came along, ran over and cut off both legs near body. He was carried at once to the W. M. R. R. depot and Dr. A. M. Hartman called and gave attention to the awful wounds. The man was placed on the special train and in charge of Dr. Hartman was taken to Baltimore. Word came Tuesday morning that Robinson had died.

Flower Show.

The unique idea of Miss Alice Forney of Chambersburg St. for a Flower Show held last Friday on the Court House pavement proved to be a most happy and successful event. There were over 25 exhibitors at this first Flower Show of the town, bringing roses, asters, coleus, nasturtiums, dahlias, cannas, begonias, coxcomb, ferns, ice plant, snowball, sunflower, hydrangea, many plants and a variety of cut flowers. The show was a brilliant one of color and most beautiful and pleasing and should be made an annual affair.

Fall Opening.

We take pleasure in announcing our first fall opening of trimmed and ready-to-wear hats on Saturday, Sept. 16th to which we welcome you

Respectfully,
ANNA E. RECK.

WILSON WILL BE DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE FOR PRESIDENT.

Growth of La Follette following—The Man the Senators had more fun with than a Box of Monkeys.

A Victory For Wilson.

It has become apparent that the Democratic National Convention of 1912 is going to be really democratic. The effort of the old Alton B. Parker wing to gain control and nominate Harmon, has received a crushing blow through the declaration for Governor Wilson by both wings of the Pennsylvania Democracy.

The Harmon plan was to have the Democratic machines, in a few, big, doubtful States—Tammany in New York, the Roger Sullivan machine in Illinois, Taggart in Indiana, Watson in West Virginia, and so on—bring in Harmon delegations. These organizations were then to say to the Southern delegates, "You see how it stands. Your States are Democratic in any case. To win, you must give us a man whom the Northern States want. We demand Harmon."

Indications are, however, that that plan is not going to work. The lines of alliance that will dominate the 1912 convention will run from the South, which is for Wilson, to the Middle West insurgent regions, also for Wilson; and, if one may prophesy at this stage, the nomination will go to the Jerseyman who has so wonderfully impressed himself on the nation during the past year. [From "SUCCESS MAGAZINE for September."

Enter La Follette

In "Storming the Citadel," in the September AMERICAN MAGAZINE, William Allen White, the insurgent leader, tells of the coming of La Follette to the Senate. (La Follette's Autobiography is just beginning in the same periodical.)—La Follette will contest the Republican presidential nomination with Taft.

Mr. White writes: "The first half of the first decade of the century passed, and suddenly one bright morning one of those queer bugs from home—a reformer—appeared in the United States Senate. He was an amusing specimen named La Follette, and the Senate had more fun with him than a box of monkeys. The errand boys had him pointed out to them by their masters as the kind of a man you get when you dished with reform. But they were assured by the great industrial and commercial forces controlling our politics that a movement was about to be set on foot that would put a blanket over reform. The wave it was said soon would subside, and La Follette would disappear. He was merely a passing phenomenon, fleeting as a summer's dream in the politics of the country—and reform—a fantasy, like Populism. Then came the panic of 1907. After the storm it was found that the wave was still rising. The water gauge of the Senate showed the wave lapping at the high-water stage. After the election of 1908 La Follette had nine Republican companions, and half a dozen Democratic sympathizers. In the Congress of 1909 and 1910 it was possible to muster sixteen Senators who could be depended upon to disregard party and vote for what seemed to be sheer right."

Smith Quartet in Senate

Another name is added to the illustrious line of Smiths holding positions in the Sixty-second Congress by the election of Hon. Hoke Smith, Governor of Georgia, to the senatorship of the Watermelon State.

"Nine Smiths already here" exclaimed Senator William Alden Smith when the news was announced, and he pointed proudly to the Congressional Record—showing eight Smiths—three in the Senate and five in the House. Governor Smith's election makes an effective Smith quartet in the Senate roll-call.

"Smith," remarked William Alden, with his hands in his pockets, looking toward the ceiling, "is a remarkable name. Have you ever reflected that the world has never had a great contest with which the Smiths have not been prominently connected? Can you think of any telephone directory, no matter how small, that has not many representatives of that magic name of five letters?"

"I tell you," he declared, "people do not realize the great strength of that name. We carry with us the brawn of the old smithy, the muscles of the blacksmith, the sinews 'strong as iron bands' that Longfellow wrote about. 'Yes, there are three Smiths from Michigan here now, and there are more left in Michigan to come yet.' It was whispered that a move was on foot to form a Smith Congressional Club and create a separate party that would be almost as strong numerically as the band of insurgents which has been so potential in effecting as well as preventing legislation of a party with a strong majority in the face of election returns.—'Affairs at Washington,' by Joe Mitchell Chaplin in NATIONAL Magazine for September."

Fireproof Houses Soundproof.

SUBURBAN LIFE for September gives some of the arguments in favor of hollow tile houses, among them being that they are fireproof, moisture-proof, sound-proof and vermin-proof. A writer says: "Appropos of the sound-proof proposition, I visited a hollow-tile house recently, and was interested in seeing in the hall, a large jug—almost a foot in diameter. I asked what it was for. 'Why, that is the telephone bell,' said my host with a laugh. 'It's what the telephone people call a contractor's bell for installing on building projects.' We had to have one attached because we spent so much time out of doors in the summer that no one could hear the telephone bell ring outside. The walls hold sound in, and also keep it out perfectly."

Public Monuments.

The Americans in England, remarking the statues in the market-places, the "idola fori," is not likely to be put to patriotic shame by the contrast. Truly, is the Burns of Central Park (the work, by the way, of a British sculptor) any funnier than the Lichfield Sam Johnson? Nay, apart from its associations, why should American or Briton not frankly own that the transept of Westminster Abbey is little, if at all, less comical, or, if you choose, less tragic, than the "Chamber of Horrors" in the rotunda of the American Capitol? There is as little "collectivism," as much "individualism," in the one case as in the other—and this equally in the choice of subjects and in the choice of artists. It is a heterogeneous commemoration of a "job lot" of heroes, heterogeneous even in respect of the primary requirement of a common scale. A statuette of Daniel Webster cannot adjoin a colossal figure of Hannibal Hamlin, say, without exciting hilarity among the young and thoughtless, even though the statuette and the colossus should be equally and perfectly well done. Carlyle, in "Hudson's Statue," has described, with an accuracy equally applicable to America, the method in which the British promoter of a statue, whether to a permanent celebrity or an ephemeral notoriety, goes about to get that statue made.—Montgomery Schuyler in "The Field of Art," in the SEPTEMBER SCRIBNER.

The "Taint of Civilization."

About thirty miles east of the Canal Zone, in an irregular line, running from the Atlantic almost to the Pacific, begins the habitation of the most peculiar tribe of people, I believe, living in the Western Hemisphere today. Their country comprises the numerous, beautiful, and fertile islands along the Atlantic coast between Puerto Huello and the Gulf of Uraba and extends inland, approximately dividing the eastern end of the Republic of Panama. Within this territory, civilization has cast no lights nor shadows, nor introduced new customs, nor gathered tithes for the propagation of foreign superstitions, nor taxes for governments of questionable integrity. These people still hunt with the bow and arrow and have the poisoned dart in reserve for their enemies.

The attention of the writer was first attracted to this part of the Isthmus by rumors of unlimited game in the country and lurid pictures of gold which is said virtually to "pave the beds of the streams." So, though it is known in all parts of the Republic of Panama that the San Blas Indians permit no strangers, white men particularly, within their territory, we decided to try to explore it anyway by traveling at night in midstream in cayucas resembling their own and concealing ourselves in the jungle during the day.—September OUTING.

Keep Your Troubles to Yourself

"Why I Lost My Position," is the subject of a practical talk to business girls in the September WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION. Here is one good piece of advice told in story form:

"A catastrophe recently overtook a business acquaintance of mine: at forty she lost a position which she had every reason to think was hers for life. Death had removed a long-suffering chief and had given her a new one. The first man had become accustomed to the little tale of woe with which she prefaced the morning's work—the neuralgia which had marred her night's rest, and the petty annoyances of suburban travel. In reality, she has few real aches and pains, and she adores commuting. (Continued on page three).

HAPPY WOMEN.

Plenty of Them in Gettysburg, and Good Reason for It.

Wouldn't any woman be happy, After years of backache suffering, Days of misery, nights of unrest, The distress of urinary troubles, She finds relief and cure?

No reason why any Gettysburg reader

Should suffer in the face of evidence like this:

Mrs. C. W. Culp, 423 S. Washington Street, Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I have still greater faith in Doan's Kidney Pills today than when I publicly recommended them two years ago. I found them to be an excellent kidney medicine. A member of my family had kidney trouble, as the result of an attack of the measles. Backache caused much suffering and there were pains in the side which made lifting an impossibility. The kidney secretions were also too frequent in passage. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally procured at the People's Drug Store and their use was followed by great relief. I advise anyone afflicted with kidney complaint to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial."

Without Fear of Successful Contradiction, We Claim that the

Ostermoor : Mattress : $15.00

Is Better than all Others for these very Pertinent Reasons:

Most Comfortable bed ever slept on—soft, yielding, but springy and resilient—never packs or gets lumpy, or loses its feeling of newness. That is because it is made of Ostermoor sheets; built, not stuffed. We have scores of letters from doctors and competent judges who declare it the only

Absolutely sanitary mattress because dust cannot work into it; no vermin can harbor in it; a sun-bath is all the renovating it ever needs; it will not absorb dampness, disease germs, or any poison from perspiration or the atmosphere. It is always

Perfectly Dry because non-absorbent. If the ticking is dry, the mattress is dry. No taking cold from it, no unpleasant or musty odor about it; always fresh and sweet. Testimonials in our free book bear witness for those who have used it for thirty years or more and who do not hesitate to say that it Lasts a Life-time and stays in perfect condition. It never needs remaking or renovating. You may remove and clean the tick as often as you like.

No other mattress in the world, of any material, at any price, from any maker or through any dealer, can truthfully make and prove all the claims as can the Ostermoor. Do not take our word for it—our word is good—but if you will

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION SUBMITTED TO THE CITIZENS OF THIS COMMONWEALTH FOR THEIR APPROVAL OR REJECTION, BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, AND PUBLISHED BY ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH, IN PURSUANCE OF ARTICLE XVIII OF THE CONSTITUTION.

Number One.

A JOINT RESOLUTION.

Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, so as to consolidate the courts of common pleas of Allegheny County.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby, proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

That section six of article five be amended, by striking out the said section, and inserting in place thereof the following:

Section 6. In the county of Philadelphia all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the district courts and courts of common pleas, subject to such changes as may be made by this Constitution or by law, shall be in Philadelphia vested in five distinct and separate courts of equal and coordinate jurisdiction, composed of three judges each. The said courts in Philadelphia shall be designated respectively as the court of common pleas number one, number two, number three, number four, and number five, but the number of said courts may be by law increased, from time to time, and shall be in like manner designated by successive numbers. The number of judges in any of said courts, or in any county where the establishment of an additional court may be authorized by law, may be increased, from time to time, and whenever such increase shall amount in the whole to three such three judges shall compose a distinct and separate court as aforesaid, which shall be numbered as aforesaid. In Philadelphia all suits shall be instituted in the said courts of common pleas without designating the number of the said court, and the several courts shall distribute and apportion the business among them in such manner as shall be provided by rules of court, and each court, to which any suit shall be thus assigned, shall have exclusive jurisdiction thereof, subject to change of venue, as shall be provided by law.

In the county of Allegheny all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the several numbered courts of common pleas shall be vested in one court of common pleas, composed of all the judges in commission in said courts. Such jurisdiction and powers shall extend to all proceedings at law and in equity which shall have been instituted in the several numbered courts, and shall be subject to such changes as may be made by law, and subject to change of venue as provided by law. The president judge of said court shall be selected as provided by law. The number of judges in said court may be by law increased from time to time. This amendment shall take effect on the first day of January succeeding its adoption.

A JOINT RESOLUTION.

Proposing an amendment to section eight, article nine, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following is proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:—

Amendment to Article Nine, Section Eight.

Section 2 Amend section eight, article nine, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, which reads as follows:—"Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation," so as to read as follows:—

Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation, except that any debt or debts hereafter incurred by the city and county of Philadelphia for the construction and development of subways for transit purposes, or for the construction of wharves and docks, or the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of a system of wharves and docks, as public improvements, owned or to be owned by said city and county of Philadelphia, and which shall yield to the city and county of Philadelphia current net revenue in excess of the interest on said debt or debts and of the annual installments necessary for the cancellation of said debt or debts, may be excluded in ascertaining the power of the city and county of Philadelphia to become otherwise indebted: Provided,

Aids Nature

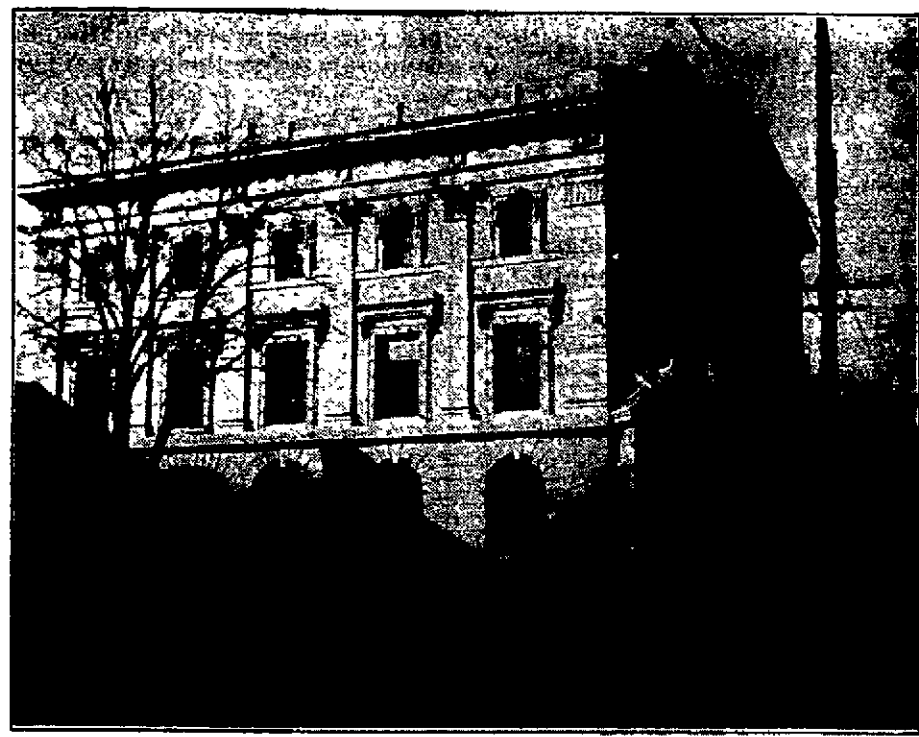

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your doctor offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—it pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

THE SEPTEMBER MAGAZINES.

Her old chief had learned to run through his morning mail while she rambled along conversational lines. The new man considered rambling a waste of the firm's time. He did not stop to remember that his predecessor was partly to blame for the unbusinesslike conduct of his stenographer, nor her long years of faithful service; he simply gave her two weeks' notice, and secured a stenographer more to his liking.

"Just because your employer possesses more than ordinary self-control, and does not tell you bluntly that you annoy him, do not imagine that he is satisfied with a chattering or giggling worker. Probably he has dropped a hint or two which you have ignored, and he is now waiting a plausible excuse to send you forth in search of a new position. So, if you have a good position which you would like to hold, why not occasionally take personal account of stock?"

Militant Democracy.

President Taft's vetoes of the farmers' free list and of the downward revision of the wool tariff schedules, only serve to throw into sharp definition the impressive lesson of Democratic constructiveness as exemplified at the recent session of Congress.

The credit of achievement, and the responsibility of obstruction, are placed exactly where they belong. Under the handicap of a Republican President, and of a Republican Senate the Democratic House of Representatives has carried through an extensive and efficient program of relief to the public. Backed by the Nation, it has even beaten down some of the Senate barriers, has imposed terms and conditions on the garrison of that stronghold of reaction, has won victory for reciprocity after it had been repudiated by the last Republican Congress, has passed the free list bill, the wool bill, the cotton bill, the Statehood bill, the direct election of Senators resolution, besides inaugurating far-reaching reforms, and curbing the trusts by investigations that have done more to check lawless monopoly than has any other bill or bridge tried in the last twenty years.

But now, between the Democracy and the people to whom it brings rescue, rises another fortress of privilege, is, in the battle of Germantown, during the Revolution, a single stone house, garrisoned by a company or two of British, stood between Washington and the capture of Philadelphia. That fort is the White House. It is there that Mr. Taft, wielding the veto power, waves signals of encouragement to the standpatters of the Senate, the Paynes, Cannons and Dalzells of the House, and uses the authority vested in him to neutralize the splendid campaign of Democratic progressiveness.—NATIONAL MONTHLY.

Panama Exposition.

The site for the Panama Exposition to be held in San Francisco in 1915 has been chosen and the September SUNSET MAGAZINE gives a description of site with map. It will be unusual in large measure. The auditorium and convention hall is to be in the city at junction of two avenues and these avenues running to San Francisco Bay, Golden Gate and Pacific Ocean, connecting parks of hundreds of acres in which the exhibits will be located and the chief exhibit being Frisco, as located within a nine mile boulevard area and intermar railway taking in all the features of the Exposition.

Martin Luther's Marriage.

In the September CENTURY Magazine Arthur C. McGiffert tells in his tenth paper of "Martin Luther and His Work," of his "Marriage and Home Life." Illustrations and letters of Luther help to make plain his marriage and the writer concludes that "Luther's married life, taking it as a whole, was genuinely happy. Few of the world's greatest men have been privileged to enjoy for many years the solace and comfort of home and family as he did. It seems at first almost incongruous. The modern world's foremost prophet living the life of a family man and interesting himself in the petty affairs of a German Professor's home. But it helped to keep him human, and it should help us to realize his humanity."

Mirrors.

The fate of the mirror as a decorative adjunct to the house has been a peculiar one. Just now, after a long period of neglect the mirror is in high favor again. It has been rediscovered and adapted to new schemes. As a space suggesting device it is meeting consideration at the hands of decorators and architects. When skillfully used the mirror can do wonders toward creating an impression of space and light. Its possibilities in this regard are so great that several clever men and women have won distinction for the way they have added apparent size to small halls, corridors, and reception rooms, by the subtle use of mercury and glass. ALL ABOUT EDDIE PLANK

THE MOST PROMINENT PLAYER OF THE ATHLETICS.

Some of the Newspaper Stories Told of Him and How He Got Into the National Game.

When the late Sir Alfred Tennison wrote about the brook that goes on forever, his mind was unacquainted with the great national sport of America.

Were the great Englishman alive today, and a poet of our pastime, in all probability he would have written an ode or an epic to the southpaw who goes on forever—Eddie Plank.

Much has been written about Plank's career, and much can be said. Of all that old guard that surrounded Connie Mack when the latter led the pathfinders of the American league into Philadelphia, but two guardsmen remain—Davis and Plank. The latter has been a notable figure among the pitchers of the American league.

Born in Adams county, this state, near the battlefield that brought the war of the rebellion to its ultimate close, Plank is known as the man of Gettysburg.

Thirty-seven years ago Plank first saw the light, and when he is thirty-eight he will retire to the farm, closing a dozen years that have been filled with baseball achievements and deeds of comparative glory. For Plank will retire next season, having rounded out by that time a dozen years of active service. Plank has been notable in his career for several reasons.

First, he has outlived all the southpaws who started with him; secondly, he never played in a minor league, and, lastly, all of his years of endeavor have been with a single club, the present champion Athletics.

Now, there is a touch of the unique in Plank's life. Until he was 20 years of age he never saw a baseball score. Until he was 16 he never saw a baseball and bat, and until he was 17 he never pitched a game.

Then a neighbor of Eddie, who had been to college and returned started a ball team. He coached the boys, and finally brought them to the point where they could be considered a splendid team. Plank was taught to pitch, and he has cast no discredit on his tutor.

When Plank was 22 years old he went to Gettysburg to college. The coach of the institution the year that Plank entered was that ancient comedian and splendid moundman of the diamond, Frank Foreman, a famous pitcher of the old Baltimore Orioles. Foreman was there when the candidates for the ball team reported. Plank didn't even know the look of a baseball uniform by that time as the boys all played in their farm clothes.

Foreman asked the various men the positions which they had played, and Plank modestly told the coach that he had "pitched some down home." Foreman started the squad working, and he immediately watched the southpaw closely. One day Frank took Plank aside and said:

"See here, you're there, and if you follow my instructions closely I'll make you one of the greatest southpaws in the country."

The coach never had a more devoted pupil. Morning and afternoon, sunrise and twilight, Plank was out working under the watchful eye of Foreman. The crossfire that has made Plank famous was invented by Eddie who called it "a slant ball" at that time.

Foreman saw him chuck a couple one day. The coach almost fell on Eddie's neck and wept. "Kid," said Foreman, "you've got about the richest thing in the line of a cross-fire that the old man ever looked at; stick to it and you're made."

Plank's career at Gettysburg is still a college idyl. He defeated everything in the shape of college nines that came to the purlieus of the battlefield, and still his fame did not percolate to the ears of the professional scouts.

Foreman gave up coaching at Gettysburg and went to the Boston Americans the first year that the American league invaded the Hub.

Frank was entering the evening of his usefulness as a pitcher at that time. One of his closest personal friends was Connie Mack. They had been in the National league together and a deep-seated friendship existed between the pair.

One night while the Athletics were in Boston Foreman went to the hotel and saw Mack.

"Con," he said, "there's a lefthander down at the college where your humble servant has been coaching that you want to get. His name is Plank. I'm staking you to this information because somebody is going to grab him."

Connie flew downstairs. He grabbed a telegraph blank and wired terms to Plank, telling him if he was willing to accept to join the club in Washington. Plank almost had heart failure when he read the wire. As Eddie explains it "his heart was almost leaping from behind his tongue." Plank packed his trunk that night, was up to take the milk train to Philadelphia at dawn and went straight to Washington. He introduced himself to Connie and was measured for a uniform.

The next day after his arrival Eddie was shoved in against Washington. He beat the ill-fated Win Mercer 6-4 and had a victorious debut. Chicago beat him, and then Eddie won a string of eight straight games. He was a winner from the start, and with Waddell comprised as fine a pair of porters as could be found.

Since that time his career has been historical. He led the league in 1906, and in only one year, 1908, has he lost more games than he won. His record in that year with a sixth place club was 16 lost and 14 won. With Jimmy Dygert in 1905 he worked every other day for a month, and this pair won the pennant that year between them.

In all his career Plank has been called down by his manager but once, and has been put out of the game but a solitary time. Both happened on the same day—Saturday, August 19, 1911, in Chicago.

In recompense to his manager, Plank turned around Sunday and pitched a two-hit game against the St. Louis Browns. Plank will quit any way next year, but he cherishes the belief that he would like to pitch a no-hit game, and "then," he says, "quit right away."

Eddie says that his best effort was when he relieved Dygert and Waddell in that memorable seventeen-inning game in Philadelphia when Detroit tied the score on O'Loughlin's famous decision. His toughest game to lose was against Chicago several years ago. Plank gave the White Sox two hits, one in the first and another in the tenth, and still lost 1 to 0 against Ed Walsh. Let Plank tell the story.

"I passed the first fello and the next man tried to bunt. I nailed him at first. Pat Dougherty was up. I had two and two on him and wanted to put the next one down around his knees, where Pat can't hit. I put everything I had on the ball to get it low enough but miscalculated. I got the ball too high and Pat whacked a triple. That broke up the game, of course. That's the toughest game I ever lost."

Should Ground be Dynamited in Orchard Planting?

A business man of Central Pennsylvania, who contemplates planting an orchard, wrote to State Zoologist Surface asking if it was best to use dynamite in preparing the places for planting.

The reply gives practical information on this subject which has been recently brought before the public.

"Whether or not it will be best to blast with dynamite, where you wish to plant your pear and peach trees, depends much upon the condition of the soil and the rock there. If there is loose friable rock and subsoil, and a good rich soil, it may not be very advantageous. If, however, it is a hard pan, and beneath this a shale that does not hold water well, it may be advisable to pulverize it with dynamite. This, I think, would be more desirable for the pear and apple than for any other fruits. I have my doubts if it would be necessary for the peach trees unless they are growing where the soil is very shallow and the rocks are quite near the surface. In this case, breaking up with dynamite would help to make a root bed that would hold moisture and furnish plant food."

There are conditions in which planting by blasting with dynamite are quite desirable. This does not mean that holes are blown out of the ground, but merely that the subsoil and rock beneath this are broken up in such a way that the roots are easily able to penetrate more readily to find water and plant food."

The Hanover Fair.

The 27th annual exhibition of the Hanover Fair, Sept. 19-22, 1911, will be bigger and better than ever, if the expectations of the managers are realized. They are making extensive preparations for increased exhibits in every department. The premium list has been revised and the prizes in many classes increased. Applications for space, stalls, &c., are coming in daily.

A large number of horses are already promised for the races, which will be held on each of the four days, the purses aggregating about $4,000.

The poultry show, a great success the past few years, promises to break the record this year.

The Hanover Fair was one of the first in the State to engage special attractions, and the performers engaged for the coming fair are among the best in their several lines. Captain Winston's Educated Sea Lions—World's Famous Oceanic Actors; Mangan Troupe—Acrobats Extraordinary; Nelson Comiques—Sensational High Class Novelty Act; The Four Alphas—Burlesque Circus; World's Famous Zello Troupe—6—Zellos—6.

Remember the date, Sept. 19-22, and visit the Hanover Fair.

COUNTY PRIMARY TICKETS.

A Strong Democrat for the OFFICE OF PROTHONOTARY

A Home Record to be Proud Of
P. A. T. BOWER
Of Butler Twp.

THERE isn't a man in Adams county (Republican or Democrat) who can boast of a better home record than that enjoyed by P. A. T. Bower, of Butler township, and if a man is thought well of at home he has an introduction to the public of which he can well feel proud.

Mr. Bower was twice elected Justice of the Peace in that strong Republican township of Butler. At his second election he had a vote of 117 out of a total of 151 votes cast. There were two Republicans running against him at the time and Mr. Bower had but a party vote of 49 to start. This second election was an unusual endorsement of his first term as Justice.

Mr. Bower was also elected as a school director of that strongly Republican township, and when he was a candidate for County Auditor he received a home endorsement of 128 votes, when his party vote registered but about 60—evidence sufficiently convincing that the Democracy will win at the November election by the nomination of Mr. Bower on September 30th.

Some years ago Mr. Bower taught school in Mountpleasant township, which is given in evidence that he has the training to make one of the best of Prothonotaries. Since 1888 he has been engaged at bridge building, and is widely known all over Adams Co.

Mr. Bower has been a special pension agent for seven or eight years and has succeeded in getting pensions and increases for many Adams county veterans.

N. B. SPRENKLE

of Adams County.

I was a Candidate for the Democratic nomination for the same office at the primaries held in the spring of 1908, was defeated by only 36 votes and was next high candidate. This being my fifth announcement, I feel that I am entitled in all fairness, to the nomination at this time as our locality has not been represented in that direction for 4 years. Besides, I have at all times given my time and services in support of the Democratic Party.

Respectfully yours

I desire to call the attention of the Democratic voters of Adams county to E. H. Berkheimer, of Berwick borough, who is a candidate for Register and Recorder at the Democratic Primaries Sept. 30, I have known Mr. Berkheimer ever since he is a voter. He has always been a staunch Democrat. He is at present Tax Collector of said Borough, having been twice elected to said office in the last 6 years and in that office has acquitted himself to the satisfaction of the people of this Borough. While unable to perform manual labor yet being a good penman, he is fully competent to fill the office to which he aspires, and the Democrats of Adams county will make no mistake by supporting Mr. Berkheimer at the Primaries and if nominated I feel sure he will be a strong candidate before the people at the polls on Nov. 7.

A LOWER END DEMOCRAT.

I WILL set at Court House to receive all taxes for Cumberland township on Sept. 28 and 29 from 2 to 5 P. M. After Oct. 1st 5 per cent. penalty added.

Vote for W. J Chrismer
For Register and Recorder

I desire to ask the attention of all Democratic voters to W. J. CHRISMER, of Mt. Pleasant twp., who is a candidate for Register and Recorder at the Democratic Primaries Sept. 30. I have known Mr. Chrismer ever since he is a voter, he has always been a staunch Democrat, standing by his principles in the hour of defeat as well as in the hour of victory. He is at present one of the members of our school board and in that office has acquitted himself to the satisfaction of the people of this township, and this large Democratic township has had but one county officer in the last 25 years. Mr. Chrismer is fully competent to fill the office to which he aspires, in addition his honesty has never been doubted, being happily possessed of the requisite demanded by the party of those who aspire to office.

The Democracy of Adams county will make no mistake by voting for Mr. Chrismer at the Primaries, and if nominated I am sure he will be a strong candidate before the people at the November election.

AN OLD DEMOCRATIC VOTER OF MOUNTPLEASANT TWP.

Vote for

S. McCLELLLEN EICHOLTZ
OF MENALLEN TOWNSHIP

For County Commissioner

FROM among the numerous candidates out for the nomination for County Commissioner, there is none more worthy the careful consideration of the Taxpayers than our esteemed neighbor, S. McClellen Eicholtz, of Menallen township. Sprung from rugged Scotch-Irish ancestors, he is possessed of those sterling qualities that peculiarly fit him for the office. This is made evident from the fact that only eleven years ago, together with his brother Charles, he started out upon borrowed capital, and in that comparatively short time, they have become possessed of one of the best farms in this locality, well stocked and equipped with all modern machinery, also one of the finest young orchards in this wonderful fruit belt. They own much of the most valuable timberland in this region, upon which they have a sawmill in more or less constant operation. All this is entirely free of encumbrances. This they have accomplished by dint of hard work, frugal habits and the application of strict business methods. They have accumulated honestly. Their word is as good as their bond. They possess the unreserved confidence of this entire community.

This is the kind of timber the Taxpayer wants in the Commissioners' office. In politics Mr. Eicholtz has always been a straight-forward Democrat, ever working for the welfare of his party. For this reason he is entitled to the recognition and support of the Democratic voters. He has never asked for office nor any other reward for his untiring efforts in behalf of his party, therefore, in view of his preeminent fitness from a business standpoint; in view of his unimpeachable integrity; in view of his unremitting efforts in behalf of his party, and in view of his staunch loyalty to party principles, we ask the Democratic voters to consider Mr. Eicholtz well at the Primaries on September 30th.

ARENDSVILLE

Several days ago when Mrs. David Hess, or near this place was gathering fox grapes on the old Eli Leech farm she was bitten on right hand by a copper head snake. Dr. Wm. E. Wolf of this place dressed the wound and she is getting along as well as could be expected. The old Eli Leech farm is now vacated, it always was noted for many copper head snakes, quite a number of persons have been bitten on that farm. Mrs. Hess saw two more in addition to the one that bit her. Several years ago Charles Eicholtz killed 14 in one den under the rocks.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Miller attended the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Harry Chronister at Hampton last Saturday. Mrs. David G. Minter has returned from a weeks visit with relatives in Lancaster and Millersville.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Bryon of Wilmington, Delaware are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Mark. Mr. and Mrs. Hodge, of Greensburg, were recent visitors at Arthur Roberts.

Dr. Joseph Jenkins, with his wife and two children, of Lititz, Lancaster county, spent several days at the home of his father-in-law, Jacob Klepper, they expect to move to Oklahoma City to make their future home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Arendt, of Hampton, were recent guests with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Arendt.

Midnight Thieves.

Twice within a month midnight thieves have visited Midway, in Conewago township.

At the home of Calvin Swisher they gained entrance through a window into the parlor. A couch in the room had been pulled aside, the carpet pulled up and $7 in money taken from under it. The couch was not replaced, and nothing else was disturbed.

At the home of Mrs. Sarah J. Frock adjoining that of Mr. Swisher, entrance was gained through a window on the second floor. A tree standing beside the house was used as a means of getting to the second story where they pried open the shutters. The window was open and access was easy. Here, too, they confined their operations to one room, which they thoroughly ransacked. Carpet was pulled up, etc., and the thieves in their search found a key to a chest in the room and the chest was also searched completely. The key was left in the lock. From this they took a purse containing about $7 in coin and 50 Lincoln cents, which belonged to a granddaughter, Anna Belle Frock. The next morning the purse was found under the tree in the yard.

HOW to SAVE FEED for STOCK

Whether the price of feed is high or low, the wise feeder tries to prevent waste. But when feed is as scarce and consequently as high in price as it is now and will be this fall and winter, even the most wasteful feeder tries to economize.

U. S. STOCK FOOD TONIC

has proven to thousands of our progressive and up-to-date stockmen that it is a feed saver. Besides keeping animals healthy and free from worms, it causes them to digest and assimilate from 15 to 25 per cent. more of the feed they eat—in other words, by adding a little U. S. Stock Food Tonic to their regular feed, you can keep them in better condition and feed from 15 to 25 per cent. less feed than you are in the habit of feeding. A trial will prove it to you, and it costs but a cent a day for a horse or cow.

UNIONTOWN, PA., MAY 17TH, 1911.

WE know from the many good words we hear from people of neighboring towns, from twenty to forty miles away, to whom we have sold Suits and Coats, that there is no such stock and assortment as ours in any store outside of large city stores, and in the matter of prices, we are lower than others anywhere—WHY? Buying direct from makers who appreciate our business, which is large, gives us the BEST PRICES, and being able to do business at less cost than most big stores, we are satisfied with less profit.

County Horse Breeders' Associations

By D. O. THOMPSON,
Animal Husbandry Department, Purdue University Experiment Station

A SCORE of years is a short time in the horse improvement business within a state. Marked improvement can be made within that time, however, by concerted action on the part of all farmers. The prospects for a continued period of remunerative horse prices are good. Animals bred to a specific purpose are always in demand. The "misfits" are slow sellers at discounted prices. Water cannot rise higher than its source. The same is true of blood—a three-quarters blood stallion cannot get foals of greater purity of blood than himself. New Jersey owns twelve pure bred stallions, which she loans to county horse breeders' associations. In a small state this method of horse improvement may prove very valuable. A look at the methods of improvement of the horse breeding industry is suggestive

TON GELDINGS.—The highest priced flesh the farmer can produce for the market. Community breeding would enable farmers to produce this type of draft geldings in carload lots.

In many ways. Some states have active county breeders' associations; others have and enforce a stringent stallion license law; others subsidize stallions of especial merit, and nearly all are making a concerted effort to improve the horses produced within their borders. While in some states a systematic effort at horse improvement is being made, in others there is no state wide movement for advancing the horse breeding industry.

Community Effort.

Community effort will prove one efficient means of bringing about this much desired improvement in the horse. Farmers within a county or several townships banding themselves together in an association for the advancement of the horse breeding industry will find that the association will serve to concentrate attention along certain definite lines and will establish a high standard for the members to work toward. It will keep the members in touch with all that pertains to the horse breeding business, through meetings, distribution of literature, etc., and will promote co-operation among them to protect members from fraud, contagious diseases and enable them to secure the profits which may accrue by selling in carload lots horses uniform in quality, type and soundness due to the establishment of a distinct type of horse within the district in the jurisdiction of the association. The association will strive toward improvement by encouraging the use of prepotent, sound, individually good, pure bred stallions in preference to impotent, unsound stallions of grade, cross bred and mongrel or scrub breeding. It will also encourage the use for breeding purposes of sound, type, high quality mares of pure or high grade breeding and discourage the use of the undersized, unsound, "misfit" mares.

One hundred brood mares like this in a county would give it a national reputation as a horse breeding center.

Method of Organization.

The following method of organization is suggested for any county or community contemplating organizing their horse interests into a breeders' association

Let some leading horseman or farmer call a meeting of all interested farmers to consider the proposition and secure some capable speaker familiar with organizations of this kind and with the horse breeding business to present to the meeting the advantages of such organization. Adopt a constitution and bylaws and elect necessary officers. Meet quarterly thereafter and have a recognized authority on horses address each meeting. Assign topics for members to discuss at these meetings. Secure and distribute among members literature on care, management and principles of horse breeding.

Notes About the Horse.

The breeders' association should not be formed under direction of a promoter who wishes to unload a stallion at a fancy price upon a community. Farmers within a community should organize on their own initiative.

The Hamilton County (Ind.) Horse Breeders' association has made marked advance during the period of its existence, and the secretary reports increasing interest.

Data collected in several states show that side bones on the fore feet are by far the most prevalent unsoundness in draft horses. This is thought to be due largely to the great weight of the forequarters.

Wisconsin has many communities where the farmers produce and sell high class grade dairy cattle of uniform breeding and type in carload lots at an advanced price over that received by farmers selling equally good cattle, a few in a lot. This can be done with horses anywhere through community effort.

This strong, sound conformation is largely hereditary. Foals from stallions and mares with feet and legs like this rarely develop unsoundnesses.

Why not Cook with Gas

Don't you know your house would be many degrees cooler if you used a gas stove, and all the home people that much more comfortable.

Gas cooks faster than other fuel, hence less length of heat. A match gives the gas in full force, and cooking done, a turn of the knob removes the heat.

An economical use of gas will result in lower bills than paid for any other fuel and that means the saving of money, heat, fuel carrying and removal of ashes.
